THE WEEK IN SOCIETY

MANY WEDDINGS TAKE PLACE AND MORE WILL COME.

Society and little to do last week save attend one or two weddings, which, with the dawn of the month of roses, came with a rush. Departures from town en numerous, but the cool weather of the las four days has induced many to postpone their going away until after the marriage of Miss Thompson and Cannon, which will be the principal social incident such as boating and driving parties, with dancing dinner at the club-house thrown in. A number nurk for the holiday last Saturday have found the so agreeable that their visit will extend far evond the time originally intended. The principal incident in the park this week will be the invitation eddent in the parameter, for which arrangements are com-minis tournament, for which arrangements are com-ministed and which will be opened on the club grounds Considerable interest is manifested in cournament, and not only are all the cottages filled ith gay parties, but every room in the club-house will have its occupant in the next six days. It is proposed to have informal dancing in the ballroom of club-house every evening, and luncheon and of the week. Among the large number of leading tennis players who have agreed to battle for the Valentine G. Hall, M. R. Wright, Dean Miller, A. Wright Post, Morton Paton, H. M. Billings Hall, S. E. Wright, R. The reception given by Mr. and Mrs. Charles G. Martin last Tuesday night at their home, No. 240 West Seventy-fourth-st., was one of the few notable incidents of the week. It marked the forty-sixth anniversary of their wedding day in a most agreeable fashion, and was also the fifth anniversary of the marriage of Mr. and Mrs. Benajah Martin. It was Martin's intention to have the reception on the Mr. Martin's intention to have the reception of intieth anniversary, three years hence, but as the old centleman's daughter and son-in-law, the Rev. Mr. cellington White, a missionary in China, are about eturn for another ten years' stay in China, an to have it at this time. It was a happy occasion, and in which Mr. and Mrs. White played no small The drawing rooms were filled with the friends of the aged couple, who were the recipients of the and Mrs. J. C. Halsey, Marshall Clement, and Mr. and Mrs. Louis S. Schneider.

Mrs. Edward Cooper on Monday night gave the only dinfier party of the week. Her guests were the Ear of Calthness, Mr. and Mrs. Charles De Kay, Mr. and Mrs. Charles G. Francklyn, Mr. andMrs. B. C. Porter Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Bryce, Miss Griswold, Miss Clift, Miss Cornelia Redmond, Miss Cram, R(K. Richards, Senator Lispenard Stewart and Smith Clift. Mr. and Mrs. Cooper Hewitt were to be at the party, but their absence from town prevented their attending. The fashionable wedding of the week was that of Miss Mary Morris Carnochan and J. Lawrence Aspinwall, which took place at Grace Church on Thursday at noon. The church was filled with a representative gathering of fashionable people who had many favorable things to say of the bride as she walked up the centre aisle with her brother, Gouverneur Carnochan, who gave her away. Her gown was white satin and point lace, and she wore some handsome ornaments, including a neck lace of pearls, a gift from her mother, and diamond feur-de-lis pin, one of the ents from the bridegroom. There were bridesmaids nor maid-of-honor. Because of bride's family being still in mourning, the wedding breakfast at the Hotel Brunswick was for the party and a few intimate friends. Another wedding on the same day was that of Miss Josephine Adams Perry, daughter of General Alexander J. A. Perry, and Junius Spencer Morgan, which took place at midday in St. Thomas's Church. It was a pretty wedding, and from a musical point of view decidedly unconventional. Miss Perry in white satin and chiffor and wearing three strands of beautiful pearls about her neck, a present from Mr. and Mrs. George H. Morgan, the parents of the bridegroom, and a diamond hair-pln, from the young man, was attended by a bevy of pretty bridesmaids dressed in frocks of white satinstriped gauze, broad Empire sashes of rose-pink ribbon, and shoulder-knots of the same ribbon. hats were of rough brown straw, trimmed with pink rosebuds and brown velvet ribbon. They were at their throats lovers' knots of gold, studded with turquoise forget-me-nots, the bride's gift. Mr. Morgan, who is a grandson of Junius S. Morgan, the banker, gave his ushers single pearl scarfpins. A wedding breakast followed at the St. Marc Hotel.

The wedding of Charles T. Cook and Mrs. S. ird, widow of Edward O. Bird, which took place on sday at Mrs. Bird's home, No. 13 West Thirtyfirst-st., was somewhat of a surprise to many of their friends. About thirty persons were present at the ceremony, which was performed by the Rev. Dr. J. Hall McIlvaine, of the Church of the Covenant. Mr. and Mrs. Cook are now at Elberon, where Mr. Cook has a

NEW PLANS AT WEST POINT.

BOARD OF VISITORS. HOW THE QUOTA MAY BE KEPT FILLED-AN

ARTILLERY DRILL WINDS UP THE WEEK'S

ORDEAL FOR THE CADETS. West Point, June 6 (Special).-If the recommenda ions of the present Board of Visitors are followed the method of appointment to the Military Academy will certainly be changed. At a meeting last night the Board submitted to Colonel Wilson, the superintendent, its views concerning an extension of the pointing power to the members of the Senate and aproyal of candidates by State examining boards. Under the new Congressional apportionment there will be 356 nominations to the Academy by Representatives every four years. Including the Territories and the District of Columbia, and the ten nominations by the President this number would be raised to 371, which, with eighty-eight by the Senators from the forty-four States, would keep the Academy quota full and provide against casualties

Colonel Wilson not only supports this plan, but sug rests another that meets with the Board's cordial approval. Heretofore unqualified aspirants have been coming to the Academy in shoals from remote points. only to be sent home again after a mortifying and roublesome experience, leaving the Academy short of students whose places may not be filled for years. Colonel Wilson, who is an eminently practical off believes that all this could be avoided and the Academy quota maintained aby a system of local exam State centres by owered. These offi-Army officers, properly empowered. examination papers, under seal, which date he could meet them in an examination-room file their answers by numbers and forward the paper scrutinize them and notify to the condidates, by numbers, through the examining officer, whether could be received or not. If eligible they could com straight to the Academy and begin their studies without further test. Suitable provision would, of be made for physical examinations after the same method. This scheme has commonsense to commend it, while it lacks the objectionable featu of others that have been proposed.

The first-class cadets passed their last examination this afternoon with flying colors, virtually conclud ing their four years' study of the art of war, as exemplified by innumerable drills and parades and the eventy-five or so bulky manuals whose principles they are supposed to have got by heart. The examination of the lower classes will probably continue until next Tuesday. Meanwhile there will be a careful calculation of the relative standing of the aspiran m all branches, and on Thursday the final resul will be known. The examiners note the merit of recitations as they proceed in a scale of tenths, which the number three represents the highest point Each of the examiners keeps his own record of marks, and the lists vary but little.

All previous military exhibitions were thrown into the shade by the highly spectacular field artillery drill this aftermoon. The drill was performed with six 3 2-10 inch steel breechloaders, lately issued. It began with the formation in line of the guns and nbers and the calssons, to which were harnessed horses with black saddles over scarlet saddle-cloths Lieutenant John D. C. Haskins, of the 3d Artillery an instructor of artillery tactics, commanded.

barracks and climbed on the limbers and caissons, where they sat like statues with folded arms and white-gloved hands. Five or six mounted cadets of the first class acted as chiefs of section and chiefs platoon. One, the guidon-bearer, rode up with scarlet banner with two yellow cannon crossed in the field. The commander's bugler sounded a few notes and away went horsemen and cannons and agons at a brisk trot across the plain. After had rumbled and clattered past two or three time n a tremendous cloud of dust Lieutenant Haskin waved his sword and platoons became columns a columns lines with a rapidity almost kaleidoscopic.

Presently they burst into a gallop, and the rawest ivilian could not help noticing how well the lines were dressed. As the cavalcade dashed by the redewing post the men's shadowy figures were silhouette igninst a background of dust. One of the drivers with might and main at the bridle of a spirited sorre and the guidon had all he could do to manage the big great Bernard that the "plebes" or "yearings" regard parade ground the battery halted. The cadets tumped went away with the limbers and caissons, leaving the guns in a row. Handspikes were brought up, amnunition was served from postmen's and the chapel, they dismounted and ran home at the "double."

One of the most interested speciators was a pale man on crutches, with a tig mustache. This was Captain Godfrey, of the 7th Cavalry, who was injured in the affair at Wounded Knee.

Congressman Burrows, Mr. Payne, General Peck, Major Carson and Father O'Brien made the "grand round" at midnight yesterday with an officer and flashed a bullsaye lantern into the cots of the sleeping cadets. Several of the party arose again this morning at reveille. At 2 o'clock they saw the monthly inspectoin of the englished men at the post and afterward visited the englished men at the post and afterward visited the englished men at the post and afterward visited the englished men at the post and afterward visited the englished men at the post and afterward visited the englished men at the post and afterward visited the englished men at the post and afterward visited the englished, where they are a major they are a major of congressman Burrows left here this afternoon for Ellersile, where they will stay as the guests of Vice-President Morton over Sunday. Then Mr. Vibbard re-signed the place to come to New-York to look after his business interests. He was the capitalist back of a large liquor house in this lelly, which was ruined by the Civil War, and he liquidated its affairs out of his private fortune, relieving his partners from all liabilities.

In 1861 Mr. Vibbard was elected to Congress, and he served on the Committee on Postofiles and Post Roads and on Expenditures in the War Department. In 1862 he acted temporarity as military director and superin tendent of the railroads of the United States. He estab lished the firm of Vibbard & Foote, dealers in railroad supplies, and was one of the principal owners of the day line of steamers plying between Albany and New-York. He was a director in the original elevated road in Green He was a director in the central Branch of the Union Pocitic He was a presidential elector from the XVIIIth District of New-York when General McClellan tan for President. He served for these years as president of the Family Fund Insurance Company. In recent years he had been particularly interested in the development of Southern railroads and in enterprises in South and Central America.

Mr. Vibbard married Mary A. Vedder, of Milton, N. Y., who died in 1894. He leaves one daughter, who married A. Craig Palmer, and two sons, one, Charles H., being in husiness here, and the other, Channery Vibbard, ir., being an Episcopal cierzyman in Oswego, N. Y. There will be funeral services over the dead man in Mason, and the body will then be brought on to be buried in the cemetery at Schenectady.

JACOB HALSTED. Jacob Halsted, well known in the hardware business and for over fifty years a resident in this city, died yes-terday after a short illness at his home, No. 5 East Forty-second-st. from heat failure. LUMBER DEALERS TO OPEN THEIR TARDS.

A special meeting of the Lumber Trade Association was held at No. 18 Brondway yesterday, at which it was unanimously resolved to open the lumber yards to-morrow, and employ only non-union men. It was also resolved to force builders to handle boycotted lumber by refusing to deliver any lumber to those who will not handle the forbidden material. A committee of five was appointed to look after the interests of those dealers who may be hoycotted by a majon or the Board of Walking Delegates. The dealers will co-operate with the boss framers, and refuse to recognize or have anything to do with trade unions. Is was reported at the meeting that many of the old union men had expressed their intention of returning

This practically ends the lumber dealers' boycott and although trouble in the way of strikes and boyotts is sure to follow as long as there is a walking delegate left, still the dealers believe that they are powerful enough now to defy the walking delegates and all the trade unions in the city. Work was con-tinued on several jobs with non-union men yesterday and a number of loads of lumber from the yards of C. L. Bucki were delivered.

WHAT CANOE MEN ARE DOING, PLANS FOR RACES AND OTHER SAILS.

Interest in canoeing is growing steadily. A few cears ago a canoe was a rare sight on the bay or the much interest as a school of porpoises. At that time the boats were crude and were paddled oftener than salled. Probably the book "Rob Roy on the Jordan" had as much as anything else to do with raising interest in the little vessels. Even now the sight of a came on the upper Hudson attracts as much attention as a large yacht. Every year new clubs are formed and a feature of the sport is that nearly every canoeist is an enthusiast and is more careful of his craft than he is of his watch. The popular idea that a canoe always upsets as a matter of course is an erroneous one, for, as a matter of course is an erroneous one, for, as a matter of fact, a capsize now is a rarity even in races, and a man who goes on a cruise no more expects to upset than he would if he were sailing a sandscow with a bandkerchief for a sail. It is not generally known that there is in this country a large organization called the American Canoe Association, which embraces clubs in all parts of the country, and which has a camp every year where paddling and sailing races are contested and where the boys have a joily time generally. This year the meet will be held at Willsborough Point, Lake Champlain. The regatta Committee has arranged the following programme:

Paddling race: helf-fully are combined; distance, three miles.

Paddling race: helf-fully are combined; distance, three miles. river, and when one was seen it excited almost as much interest as a school of porpoises. At that time Sailing; four and a half miles; same rig and ballast as in race No. 1. These three races will constitute the record contests.

Trophy paddling race; one mile, straightaway; exempt from one man one cance rule.

Unlimited sailing race; no limit to rig or ballast; time limit, two hours and a half; course, six miles; first twelve cances finishing are entitled to sail for the association trophy.

Trophy sailing race; no limit to rig or ballast; course, nine miles; time limit, three hours and a half.

Novice race; open only to men who have never sailed in a cance prior to September 1, 1890; course, three miles.

Pecowsic sailing race; four and a half miles; no limit to rig or ballast.

Sailing club race; to be saited on an L course, one leg a mile, and the other, one and a half miles; first three members of any club to count; no club can enter with less than three men; distance, six miles. Cruising race; open only to "general purpose canoes"; distance, six miles.

Paddling war-canoe race; four crews of not less than ten men; half-mile, straightaway.

Paddling tandem; half-mile, straightaway.

Paddling club tours; half-mile straightaway.

Sailing upert and manoenvring; no special appliances; no limit to sail or ballast; paddle to be thrown over at first signal and recovered; second signal, canoe to be tipped over until top of mast touches the water; canoes to be righted and cross finish line under sails open only to "general purpose canoes."

Hurry-scurry and gymnastic contests and unclassified boats; open to all; conditions to be posted.

Last week the annual cruist of the Brooklyn Canoe

Last week the annual cruist of the Brooklyn Canon Club was taken. The canoeists left the club-house on Friday, selled to Huntington Bay, where camp was made and a race for the Pagan Cruisers' Trophy was ailed. The party returned to Brooklyn last night.

Jacob's Island, on Pigeon Lake, Ontario, has been chosen by the Executive Committee of the Northern chosen by the Executive Committee of the Northern Division of the American Cance Association for the place of the division's next annual meet, which will be held July 15 to 29.

Lowell is the proud possessor of a new cance club. A club-house is soon to be built. Canceing is growing rapidly at the University of the City of New-York. The Manhattan Athletic Club and the Marine and Field Club will hold a joint regatta on the Bay, on June 20. The winner of the American Cance Association record 1880, the Passaic, has been sold and will not again be seen in the races.

of 1800, the rassaic, has been seen in the races.

A new steam launch will be at the service of the officers of the American Canoe Association at the meet on Lake Champlain this summer. Thomas G. Ruddington, of the Brooklyn Canoe Club, is the owner.

Daily large trucks are being hauled up the road leading to Weehawken laden with the reddest sort of red fire packed in boxes, their destination being the beautiful new grounds named El Dorado, where Solossy Kiralfy's mighty open-air summernight's spec-acle, "King Solomon and the Destruction of Jerusalem," is soon to be presented. No less than thirty tons of the stuff are being taken up to the Palisades, quantities of which will be used nightly after the opening of the show in destroying the Holy City and in spreading consternation and terror among its in-habitants. Mr. Kiralfy, who personally superintends habitants. Mr. Kiraify, who personally superintends the unloading of the precious material, says that 300 pounds will be consumed on each occasion when the town is to be annihilated, and that the conflagration will be seen from Sandy Hook as well as Hacken-sack. It seems reasonably certain that the formal opening of El Dorado will be about the middle of this month.

LOSSES BY FIRE IN VARIOUS PLACES.

THE COLUMBIAN INSTITUTE.

The medical work accomplished at the Columbian Institute for the Cure of Cironic Diseases and Preservation of Health, at No. 142 East Thirty-fourth-st., has been so satisfactory in the past that the president, Colonel Alexander P. Ketchum, and the Board of Trustees feel it a solemn duty to call the attention of all sufferers wasting away without a shadow of hope from asthma, bronchitis, rheumatism, gout, paralysis. affections of the spinal cord and other chronic complaints that are now the opprobrium of the profession, to the fact that this type of discuses can be cured at this institution. Dr. Henry A. Hartt, the medical director of the staff of consulting physicians, has devoted a lifetime to the especial study of chronic maladies, in search for all kinds of remedies and agencies and therapeutic resources that science affords, and with such success that he has placed this category of diseases, hitherto called incurable, among the curable, thus presenting a happy augury of what the future has in store for suffering humanity. The records of cases permanently cured at the institute are open to applicants, and this long list will prove to the most seeprical and hopeless patient that there are grand possibilities of recovery through the high affainments and professional skill that have brought the treatment of chronic diseases to its most elevated and scientific plane. affections of the spinal cord and other chr plane.
